Fair Dates Coming on Apace.

It is well to remember that five weeks from today the Orleans county fair will be under way. This season promises to bring us one of the most successful fairs for many years. The attractions booked are particularly good and somewhat out of the ordinary. There is a growing tendency to bring back our agricultural departments and to make much more of them than we have done the past few years as is shown in the new department offering special prizes to the young people along agricultural lines. Announcements will from now on appear in our columns of the attractions and you will find that the management of the association is sparing no money or pains to make this the most successful fair of many seasons.

Heath-Grant.

At the Congregational parsonage Friday forenoon, Clyde W. Heath and Alice M. Grant, both of Barton, were married by the Rev. W. A. Warner. Both young people are well known and have a large number of friends in the village and as they have in the past been among those who were very active in rice throwing, it is presumed that this had much to do with the quietness of their own wedding. The young people are spending several days at camp at May pond after which they intend making their home.

At the Methodist Church.

The subject of the sermon at the morning service was, "The Church of the Living God." The pastor pointed out the difference between the real church and the church as man sees it. He showed that the church of the living God is fixed upon such firm foundations that none but God, himself, could ever move.

Mrs. Ranney led the League meeting at 6 p. m.

The theme of the evening was taken from Jonah 1:3, "A Man's Job." This was a sermon for the young men especially. Mr. Ranney has been asked to repeat this and probably will do so at a date to be announced later.

There was a good number at Sunday school considering the heat of the day.

A large party of business men of West Burke met our trustees at the electric light plant in Charleston recently, to discuss ways and means of having Barton light the streets of West Burke. West Burke seems to want our current.

Miss Marion Carter, Helen Carter, Hazel McLellan, Clara Underwood, Frank Corley, Hiram McLellan, Norman Stebbins, and Merrick Winslow made up two automobile parties Friday who indulged in a "melon" party at Willoughby lake.

New arrivals at the Misses May's the past week are Mrs. McGregor and son, Gordon, of Montreal, Miss Helen Burns of Montreal and Wallace Gray of Sutton, P. Q. Mrs. Campbell and Miss Maude Campbell have returned to their home in Montreal.

The West Glover friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Prescott had a picnic at the Rev. W. S. Jenne.

From a column obituary of the Rev. Mr. Jenne, the Monitor selects the following: Mr. Jenne was well known in this section of the county, as he preached in several nearby towns. "Rev. W. S. Jenne passed away at his home in Newbury June 14, after a long illness. William Selden Jenne was born in Derby November 25, 1845. In October before he was 15 he enlisted in the 6th Vt. Regiment. He was three times wounded, each time seriously, but at the battle of Fredericksburg, while supporting a battery he received a bullet in his neck which lodged in the lower lobe of his right lung. For eight days he lay on the field of battle unprotected and uncared for, save as a confederate soldier filled his canteen with water until the seventh day, and part of the time there was a pouring rain. On the afternoon of the eighth day he was found by Dr. Chandler of Montpelier, coming under a flag of truce found him and the bullet was removed without the use of anesthetics. Deciding after mature thought and the urgent advice of friends that he was called to preach, he prepared to enter conference, which he did at Woodstock in 1878. His first charge was Peacham. In 1880 he became pastor of the churches of Westfield, Troy and Jay, and in April, 1881, he married Ida M. Young, daughter of John Young of Troy. She proved well fitted for the position and their married life of 33 years has been nearly ideal. His subsequent charges were Holland and Morgan, Albany and Glover, where a physical breakdown practically ended his ministerial career. A though he always preached on social occasions whenever his health would permit. He was in demand as a platform speaker, for he always had something to say and said it well. In G. A. R. circles he was a general favorite. While at Glover he was elected to the legislature with the largest majority ever given a representative in the history of the town, and was also elected chaplain of the Department of Vermont. Since last October he had been confined to the house, and since Easter had been in bed, a great sufferer. A brave soldier, a good citizen, a devoted husband and a true friend."

Congregational Church Notes.

"God's Great Man" will be the subject of W. A. Warner's extemporaneous sermon Sunday morning.

The monthly social and business meeting of the Fidelity class was held with Mrs. Seaver last evening. About 20 were present and an enjoyable evening was spent.

In items not previously mentioned here but of sufficient interest to receive attention is the presentation to the church of the new music case in the front of the main auditorium by W. S. Hibbard, chorister. This twelve drawer case is the handiwork of Mr. Hibbard, is handsomely finished in mahogany and not only speaks volumes for Mr. Hibbard's skill with tools, but is a very useful and valuable piece of furniture for the choir.

Prescott cottage, Willoughby lake, the subject of an agreeable surprise to the Prescotts.

Graham Hall of Baltimore, Md., who has been visiting friends and relatives here the past few weeks, was called home suddenly through the illness of his mother.

Hiram McLellan has gone to Troy, N. Y., where he will probably remain the rest of the summer with his college chum, Leslie Campbell. They will tent on an island in the Hudson a part of the season.

E. N. Randall visited his old home in Craftsbury last week. Mr. Randall came to Barton from Craftsbury thirty-three years ago, and we understand this to be his first visit to Craftsbury in the past fifteen years.

Miss Marion Carter, Helen Carter, Hazel McLellan, Clara Underwood, Frank Corley, Hiram McLellan, Norman Stebbins, and Merrick Winslow made up two automobile parties Friday who indulged in a "melon" party at Willoughby lake.

Judge and Mrs. F. D. Thompson left yesterday for Minneapolis, where the judge goes on business. They will return to Chicago for a few days, and then take the Great Lake trip and through the St. Lawrence back to Montreal, being away for about two weeks.

The band concert this week will be in the park at the lower end of town. Following is the program: March, "The Challenger;" selection, "Southern Melodies;" piccolo solo, Dr. J. M. Blake; schottische, "Caprice;" march, "Citizen's Pride;" "Lillian Waltz;" march "The Drummer Boy;" march "Peg o' My Heart;" finale "Home Sweet Home."

A ball team from the tub shop here played a nine from the Orleans shops on local grounds Saturday and were defeated by a score of 12 to 6. The Orleans fellows had something on our aggregation, and we will have to strengthen some of our weak places, and get into a hitting streak in order to win from them. The tub shop plays Glover here Saturday.

Miss Anna Karston, who for the past four years has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Titus of this place, left Tuesday morning for Valley Falls, N. Y., where she will marry Perry Brundage of that place today. About 75 invited guests will be present at the wedding and reception following. The young people will make their home in Valley Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pierce returned from their recent trip to Burlington Saturday. Mr. Pierce returned by the way of the islands through lake Champlain to Swanton, Jeffersonville and Morrisville, a distance of 157 miles. He reports excellent roads in most of the distance, but remarks that the roads of our county compare very favorably with any on the west side of the state.

The dance at Le Beau Lac Boat club Friday night was poorly attended, there being other attractions on the same night, which interfered with the attendance. If the dances are to be continued at the club house during the season, we must all help to make them a success. A project to give an "old folk" dance is well under way, and it should have the support of all the club members and friends.

Will Ladd of Sheffield narrowly escaped serious injury when his horse became frightened near the passenger depot Monday and ran across the street to the McFarland mill. The buggy struck the corner of the steps at Barron's store and was turned over, then collided with a team being loaded with grain at the feed store, bringing up finally at the high fence between the McFarland and Barron stores. Mr. Ladd was somewhat bruised and the wagon partially wrecked.

Among Crystal Lake House guests the past week we note a number of people from neighboring towns and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fitch of New York, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Marshall of Boston, F. D. Carroll of St. Louis, Mo., F. D. Carroll of Portland and E. Fitzgerald of Boston, besides a number of local people, who had dinners at different days during the week. The management are well pleased with the manner in which the house has opened and feel that the prospects are very good.

The second feature play at the Gem theatre Friday showed to good houses both afternoon and evening, although the attendance did not quite equal that of "Hiawatha." This feature was one of the best photoplays of its kind ever made and on Broadway, New York, where it ran several weeks at the Vitagraph theatre it showed to capacity houses, with a dollar admission. These features which the management proposes to put on from time to time, will be just as good and in fact the same photoplays that you could ordinarily find only in the large towns and cities.

The following item of interest to our readers recently appeared in the Burlington Daily Free Press: "The confirmation of Cornelius Buckley as postmaster of Barton by the United States senate has closed one of the most spirited contests for a postmastership in the state. Mr. Buckley succeeds Carroll B. Webster, whose commission expired Feb. 9, 1913. His opponent for the office was Horace P. Cook, a life-long Democrat. Mr. Buckley's nomination was sent to the senate last October by President Wilson, but before action was taken friends of Mr. Buckley succeeded in having Mr. Buckley's nomination withdrawn. His nomination was again sent to the senate and March 11 a delegation from Barton, in the interest of Mr. Cook, went to Washington and lodged a protest with one of the Vermont senators against the confirmation of Mr. Buckley. Upon the return of the delegation Mr. Cook withdrew from the contest and three other candidates, the principal one being Fred C. Browning, entered the field. Later charges were preferred against Mr. Buckley and in May Mr. Buckley with his attorney, Judge Frank D. Thompson, went to Washington. He secured a hearing before a subcommittee of three senators who gave a unanimous verdict in favor of Mr. Buckley, and he was confirmed by the senate June 24."
